

Hooked on Wireless Technology

Are these gadgets harming us and getting out of control?

Dr. Malcolm Paterson, PhD, molecular oncologist whose renowned research career spanned 40 years on 3 continents, will review current scientific research into microwave radiation from wireless phones, cell towers, Wi-Fi in schools, and smart meters; and their impact on public health.

Learn why 235 international scientists recently appealed to the UN for safer radiation limits and greater preventive measures.

Discover the full range of potential health risks: brain tumors, male infertility, neurodegenerative diseases, immune dysfunction, impaired learning and behavior in children, sleep disturbances, autism, and electro-hypersensitivity.

Receive practical tips to protect you and your children from harmful radiation exposures common in today's wireless age.
